In all about 7 acres

Situated within private grounds of approximately 7 acres with beautifully designed and maintained mature gardens, including ornamental water features, extensive landscaping with feature stone patio and entertaining areas. Leading into the property are highly tended adjacent paddocks with wildlife pond and specimen trees. Additionally, a detached cottage provides versatile accommodation—ideal for guests, extended family, or dependent relatives.

Located just a short drive from the centre of Grindleton, the property is accessed via a private driveway and an impressive double-gated entrance with electric gates. The drive leads to circular guest parking, from which substantial stone steps and a tree-lined path guide you to the front entrance.

The original character property has been significantly and sympathetically extended and restored to retain the style and character of the historic structure thus creating a wonderful presentation with high-quality dressed stonework and architectural features throughout.

Although the house has a period feel and style, a great deal of thought has been taken to incorporate many modern technological amenities such as control 4 home automation for lighting, TV and music throughout the house, along with Audio and visual at the front and rear gates. Internally, the property boasts an unparalleled style and quality, blending period features with natural light, open-plan reception and family rooms, all complemented by high quality fittings, sumptuous décor, and architectural details throughout.

Cob Manor is a rare opportunity to live in a private yet expansive period home of exceptional design, distinguished style, and sumptuous décor — all while remaining comfortable and practical.
