Flawless design
masterminded by Mackenzie Miller Homes' interior specialists creates light-filled, inviting living spaces that flow seamlessly.

The idyllic homes at Orchard Grove each feature intricate detailing that demands attention throughout.

Modern comforts

Electric car charging ports, efficient underfloor heating on the ground floor and hand-made timber frame double-glazed windows, combined with high levels of insulation in the walls and roof, ensures each home at Orchard Grove is well equipped for the needs of modern life.

COUNTRYSIDE LIVING

Perfectly situated on the border of the Cotswolds AONB, the village of Kemble offers peaceful countryside living with convenient connections direct to London.

Weekends can be spent enjoying long countryside walks, Sunday lunches in a cosy pub or pottering around all the beautiful villages the Cotswolds has to offer. Just a short drive from Kemble and you'll find yourself in Cirencester, renowned for its Roman links and stunning town center. Cheltenham is 40 minutes away by car, offering a day at the races or for history enthusiasts, an afternoon spent exploring the spa heritage of this regency town.

THE HISTORY OF KEMBLE

Kemble has a fascinating history. The airport, now known as Cotswold Airport, first opened in 1936 as the Royal Air Force Kemble. The airport has been open to civilian flying since 1996 with spectators now able to enjoy two air shows annually.

The Grade II listed train station of Kemble first opened in 1845 and became a public station in 1882. The station now provides direct, high speed trains to London Paddington as well as convenient services to Cheltenham Spa.
