

White City Place, W12

White City Place is London's second most established lab sciences cluster. We have advised Stanhope PLC, Cadillac Fairview and Aimco on the development of this. Four years ago, we recognised the value that the adjacency to Imperial College provided to occupiers in the life sciences sector. We have been able to successfully repurpose previous office accommodation to suit tenants in the life sciences sector, including Novartis, Autolis and GammaDelta Therapeutics Limited, amongst others. We are now considering the next phase, Gateway East, as a possible 500,000 sq ft lab-enabled headquarters building.
